HAMMER STRENGTH APPAREL IS NOW

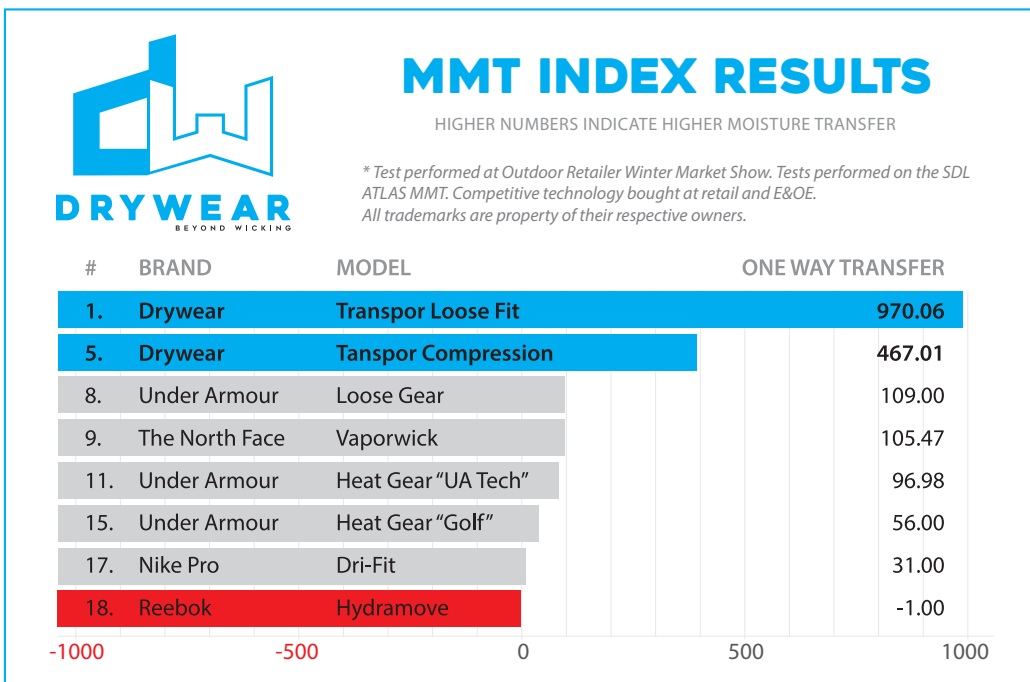

The World's Best Moisture Management Performance Apparel

DRYWEAR Apparel is the highest level of moisture management on the market, utilizing an unique bi-layer fabric construction featuring TRANSPOR® yarns that relentlessly wick moisture from the skin - one-way only - to the outside layer of the fabric, where moisture is evenly distributed and evaporates rapidly. DRYWEAR Apparel maximizes performance by keeping athletes cool and dry.

Focus on your activity, we'll handle the sweat.

Designed for and tested by marathoners, triathletes, ninja warriors, OCR athletes, DRYWEAR proudly keeps soldiers cool in harsh desert climates, keeps climbers warm on Mount Kilimanjaro, and Antarctic explorers dry. DRYWEAR Apparel is the driest, most advanced performance gear available, developed to keep you dry in even the most demanding conditions on the globe.

"It's insane - I've never worn anything like DRYWEAR Apparel for training or racing. Running shirtless on a long and hot trail run I started to overheat, I slipped on my DRYWEAR top and I instantly felt 10 degrees cooler! I don't know how the heck it works so well, but even a black shirt feels cool and dry in the direct desert sun here in Arizona!" - Brett Stewart, Fitness Author & Endurance Athlete
